RESPONDENTS INCLUDING SERVICE MEMBERS AND MILITARY SPOUSES

Blue Star Families' annual Military Family Lifestyle Survey provides a comprehensive understanding of what it means to serve as a military family. For that reason, it is a blueprint for strengthening America, identifying how we can continue to enhance military family life.

This infographic represents a geographic cross-section of the results that only includes active-duty families due to limited veteran, National Guard, and Reserve family respondents. When referencing this data, please consider that the majority of respondents reported here are White / non-Hispanic, military spouses, half of whom are field or general grade officers themselves, or are married to ones, and there is a relatively representative distribution among the Services (32% Army, 23% Navy, 23% Air Force, 12% Marine Corps, and 7% Coast Guard). The average age of respondents here is 38, 91% are female, and 25% report they are unpaid caregivers.

OVERALL TAKEAWAYS

Over half of NCR respondents (half of whom are field or general grade officers themselves, or are married to one) report they are financially stressed. Out-of-pocket housing costs, spouse unemployment, and out-of-pocket relocation costs exacerbate financial stress.

There is an opportunity for the Department of Defense to increase notice for hard orders to the NCR area. For the full survey sample, orders issued at least three months prior to a move are associated with a higher sense of belonging to the local community.

There is an opportunity for schools in the NCR to better welcome military children, especially into extracurricular activities. When asked what made their child feel a sense of belonging to their school, parents from the full survey sample reported their child having friends, activities/clubs, good teachers/staff, and school welcoming practices.
